DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-3, 7-9, 12 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Stoops 5,251,945.

Stoops teaches a device for protecting and transporting articles comprising a continuous cradle 12, carrying straps 48, a restraining strap 34, a handle 52, and the device folds into a compact shape when not in use (see column 5 lines 44-50). The method recited in claims 8, 9, 12 and 13 are clearly anticipated by the structure set forth in the figures and the function of the device taught in the specification of Stoops.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 4-6, 10, 11 and 14-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Stoops 5,251,945 in view of Marsh, Jr. 5,505,353.

Stoops teaches the claimed device except for making the carrying straps adjustable in length and providing a second restraining strap. Marsh teaches a similar article carrier comprising a carrying strap with a means for adjustment 96 and two restraining straps 102. To provide the carrying strap of Stoops with a means for adjustment in the manner as taught by Marsh in order to allow the length of the strap to be adjusted for a particular user or purpose would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art. To further provide the Stoops carrier with a second restraining strap in the manner as taught by Marsh to provide increased support to the device being carried would also have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art. The method recited in claims 10 and 11 is clearly obvious over the structure set forth in the figures and the function of the device taught in the specification of Stoops as modified by the structure set forth in the figures and the function of the device taught in the specification of Marsh.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 17 January 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., a continuous cradle along substantially all of an objects bottom side to substantially distribute support of large and relatively flat objects, such as newsprint pad or picture frame and across most of the object's span to prevent sagging or deformation of the object being carried) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

It is further noted that applicant's specification on page 8 lines 5-9 states that the "cradle" can be formed from a flexible pliable material or from a rigid material. It is submitted that Stoops meets the requirements of a flexible pliable material.

In response to applicant's argument directed to the combination of Stoops and Marsh in that there is no suggestion to combine the references, the examiner recognizes that obviousness can only be established by combining or modifying the teachings of the prior art to produce the claimed invention where there is some teaching, suggestion, or motivation to do so found either in the references themselves or in the knowledge generally available to one of ordinary skill in the art. See In re Fine, 837 F.2d 1071, 5 USPQ2d 1596 (Fed. Cir. 1988) and In re Jones, 958 F.2d 347, 21 USPQ2d 1941 (Fed. Cir. 1992). In this case, providing a strap with a means for adjustment to vary the height and location of an object being carried is knowledge generally available to one of ordinary skill in the art.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
